My name is Alla Rossow, I graduated from the College of Fine Art and Design in the Soviet Union in 1978. I worked in the decoration and Design industry my entire life decorating department stores, window cases, restaurants and other interiors. I always liked my job, but after immigration in the States I've started to paint and become an artist recognized in the area. While working as a designer I have created my own technique of collage and people seem to appreciate it and now my artwork is in many private collections in the United States and also around the world.
